RE-BUILD NIGERIA PARTY

All Hands On Deck

FORWARD

SINCE 1960, Nigeria has come under various forms of leadership. Blessed with huge natural and human resources, the world looked up to Nigeria to be the leader of the entire black race. That gave Nigeria the name giant of Africa.

Unfortunately, poor leadership has failed to harness these enormous resources. The consequences have been national shame. The citizens have been left sick, unemployed, malnourished, hungry and angry. Policies to address these problems have been warped and not consistent with the enormous wealth the country has made from huge deposit of oil and other natural resources.

The ruling class and their cohorts have devised consistent and persistent means to loot almost all the country's wealth leaving little of nothing for health, education and infrastructure. Thus, the national patrimony has become exclusive preserve of the few ruling class who are less than 10% of the over 180 million Nigerians.

The political parties, which should propagate the tenet of democracy and ensure fertilization of ideas are only established for the purpose of election. As a result, conscientisation of the citizens and the need for grass root mobilisation have failed as political parties wait until few months to election to foist candidates on the parties against the yearning of the people. This development has led to win at all cost with frequent ballot paper destruction and ballot box snatching, shooting and the use of dangerous weapons at election units, buying of votes with money paid to voters on election days right in the units and general electoral malpractices.

The absence of a political party consistent with the aspiration of Nigerians to pursue the Nigerian dream is reflected in poor leadership and painfully followership. This has imperilled the emergence of a virile society.

An apparent feature of this situation is a broken down institution of governance at all levels.

Considering this appalling situation, REBUILD seeks to remake Nigeria where every Nigerian will call his home. This will be attained through consistent engagement of Nigerians home and abroad to discuss national issues, explore ways to collectively build the nation, self-sacrifice towards collective goods and the creation of the Nigerian Dream.
